

FROM KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 17 1862.—Morgan's command about 2000 cavalry, entered Glasgow on Wednesday. Three companies of the 2d Michigan cavalry opposed their entrance, but fell back on Muncfordsville, having lost one captain and two privates. The Confederates were then reinforced, and remained in possession of Glasgow on Thursday.

Cols. Gray, Neal and Shanks attacked the Confederates near Cave City. The Confederates having previously damaged the railroad near Glasgow Junction.

At last accounts, the Federals drove off the Confederates, killing 1 and taking 16 prisoners, but themselves sustaining no loss.

The train of ammunition wagons, which left here last Monday, was fired into near Notin, and returned this morning.

The telegraph communication between here and Nashville was interrupted this afternoon.

DEATH OF GOV. C. T. JACKSON.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 24.—A deserter from Green's Confederate regiment, says that C. T. Jackson, the Confederate Governor of Missouri, died at Little Rock on the 8th inst.

CHRISTMAS AT THE CAMPS.

CAMP PAROLE, ALEXANDRIA.—The convalescent and paroled prisoners at Alexandria were provided with a suitable dinner. Both camps contain about 15,000 men. In Camp Parole there are five wards, the entrance to each of which was decorated with evergreens and had arches sprang across. The beds in the hospital were decorated with flowers. A table, spread with a white cloth and with crockery, was set under a neatly-arranged bowler, at which the officers were seated to partake of the dinner provided. The provisions for the soldiers had been sent down the day before, and were distributed in quantities to the inmates of the different tents, who prepared their own dinners. All were amply supplied with turkeys, chickens, roasts, &c.—The surgeon in charge occupied the head of the table, and after a blessing had been asked by the chaplain, the officers and visitors did full justice to the good things set before them. A toast to the ladies and gentleman who interested themselves for the soldiers was given, and appropriately responded to.

At the Convalescent Camp the dinner was not quite so successful as at Camp Parole, owing to the fact of the non-arrival of the articles provided by Mrs. Smith until a late hour. Late in the evening, however, the soldiers were supplied with turkeys, chickens, vegetables, and other edibles, which had been provided. It was not thought advisable to set a table, owing to the severe illness of Col. Belknap, the commandant of the camp, as it was feared the noise and confusion made by the soldiers would have a bad effect him.—Wash. Star.

A Key West correspondent, under date of 5th instant, states that more than fifty large vessels belonging to the Banks Expedition, had been seen passing into the gulf within three days, and that the only disaster reported was that of the M. Sanford, already mentioned.

By a special train to Richmond on the 24th, from Gordonsville, one hundred and eighty prisoners arrived, and were lodged in the Libby Prison. They were captured a few days ago by General Wade Hampton, in the vicinity of Dumfries.

The name of Capt. Lawton, of Ga., whose death was mentioned yesterday, was Edward Lawton.

A lady, who recently passed into the Federal lines from Vicksburg, states that the Confederates are still busy fortifying the place, and have already planted about two hundred guns, including those in the battery, and in fortifications extending eight miles back, nearly to the Yazoo river. Six thousand troops had recently been sent across the country to Grenada and Jackson, but have now returned, and before the Federal fleet can reach them and commence operations, it is supposed 100,000 troops can be concentrated at Vicksburg. The force now at that point cannot exceed 10,000.

An order, originating in the state Department, was sent to New York yesterday, permitting the mules and railroad ties wanted for the French military road from Vera Cruz to Orizaba, to be shipped in opposition to the remonstrance of the Mexican Representative.

Two thousand dollars' worth of turkeys having failed to arrive in season for distribution on the occasion of the Christmas dinners, Mrs. Smith will have the same distributed to the various hospitals, in equal proportions, to-day.

A letter from Suffolk, Va., dated 23d inst., states that the election for members of Congress took place the day before agreeably to the proclamation of General Dix. Contrary to the laws of Virginia, ballots were cast instead of voting viva voce.

A very large cargo of cast iron, embracing about half a million pounds, has arrived for the dome of the Capitol at Washington.

It is reported that Attorney General Bates regards the admission of West Virginia as a State unconstitutional. His opinion, it is thought, will have considerable influence in preventing the President from signing the bill.

A dispatch from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac last night states that all was quiet, and that nothing had occurred during the day worth communicating.
